Dedication

Through the years other experiences will crowd out many of our schoolday remembrances. But we shall always treasure fond memories of the wonderful start we were given in the first grade. It is in deep and abiding appreciation for her patience and her kind and understanding heart, that we, the senior class, affectionately dedicate THE ECHO of 1960 to Mrs. Laura Keeton Chamberlain.

Principal's Message

I want to congratulate you members of the Senior Class of Sunnyside-McKenney High School for having reached this point in your education. I hope we can award a diploma to each of you at the end of the school year.

You are the first class to have had the opportunity to participate in the new twelve year program at Sunnyside-McKenney High School. I have seen in you many of the results of this extra year. You are more mature and have assumed more responsibility in the various school activities. I feel that you have fully justified this new program.

Many responsibilities, social, political, and religious, are going to rest on the shoulders of high school and college graduates in these rapidly changing times. Much of what the future holds, humanly speaking, is largely in your hands. You must stand on your own and make your own contribution to society. I trust that each of you will be an influence for good for your family, your country, and your God. We are going to miss you here at Sunnyside-McKenney High School, and our interests and prayers will go with you.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby publish and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills made by us at any time heretofore.

I, Freeman Barner, leave my ability to talk in algebra class to the nearest mute magpie.

I, Charlotte Riddle, will and bequeath to anyone who has the hiccups, a drink of water.

I, Curtis Tweedy, leave my curly hair to Mr. Atkinson, although he doesn't need it.

I, Roland Maitland, leave my love of flying to the nearest buzzard.

I, Douglas King, leave to the triplets my ability to give excess warrants as it will take three monitors to make up for the loss of me.

I, Charlotte Elder, will and bequeath my seeing-eye glasses to Paige Mitchell and Nancy Mayes.

I, Junior Bishop, leave my knowledge of sports to the nearest IBM machine.

I, Gene Townsend, pass my title of Mickey Mouse to Rennie Bridgeman.

I, James Lee Lewis, leave my big ears to the nearest elephant.

I, Jimmie Mayton, leave my trouble with women to William Crittenden.

I, Belle Mayes, will and bequeath my ability to keep quiet to Mary Bruce Batte, who needs it greatly.

I, Linda Meredith, will and bequeath my great ability to sit on the bench at a basketball game to Miss Hargrave, who never sits still.

I, Ann Fry, will and bequeath my ability to dye my hair to Marian Coleman, who tried it without success.

I, Mary Lou Lingerfelt, will and bequeath my red nose to the nearest reindeer.

I, Edna F. Rives, leave my "Autumn Leaves" and a rake to Miss Hargrave.

I, Barrett Brandon, leave Miss Ogden to Gene Smith (to have and to hold from this day forward).

I, Carol Byrd, leave to Mr. Myers a pair of soft shoes, so when he jumps around imitating Miss Hargrave, he won't get sore feet.

I, Walter Currin, leave my ability to jump after basketballs to our beloved mascot, "Whiskers," the rabbit.

I, Jack Satterwhite, leave my knowledge of miscellaneous facts to the junior class.

I, Jack G. Zehmer, bequeath my voluminous vocabulary to Mr. Atkinson for use in the Guidance Chamber.

We, the senior class, leave to Miss Ogden a treasure map to help her find her time clock.

We, the senior class, will and bequeath to Miss Hargrave a ball and chain to anchor her car keys.

We, the senior class, leave to Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Myers a toupee. They can decide which needs it most.

We, the senior class, will and bequeath to Mr. Chambliss a book of formulas.

Given under hand and seal on this the 6th day of June by the Senior Class of Sunnyside-McKenney High School.

Witnesses:
Marshall B. Heizer
Bill "Red" Goodwin

Prophecy

The White House had never been in such an uproar; the president was holding a reunion of his high school class. From all walks of life and all sections of the country came the members of the Class of '60. Here I was getting everything in order for the reunion of my class. I had ordered the caviar, champagne and the glasses under which to cook the pheasants. The feeding of the 30 odd guests was a minor matter compared with the finding of the addresses. The most remote and hardest to locate was Junior Bishop who had been in Alaska as the first successful tobacco farmer there. Also in Alaska was "Cool Carol" Byrd, honeymooning with her 5th husband, having worn out two, divorced one and her first, a prominent doctor, having died as the result of trying to keep up with Carol's whirlwind life. She now has entered the service of a TV station in Alaska doing ads for the Brandon-Hilton in Anchorage, Alaska. The Brandon-Hilton, as you may have guessed, is partly owned by Barrett Brandon, who also found a fortune in the frozen North.

Back on the Washington scene it was easy to locate Mary Lou Lingerfelt and Charlotte Elder, since they had opened a dress shop on Penn. Ave. where the First Lady buys most of her clothes. Their husbands own a bread factory in Washington also.

Ann Fry was easy to locate because she had married and now she and her children pose for the national advertisements for the McKenny Shirt Factory owned and operated by the enterprizing Jack (Boo) Satterwhite. After careful figuring "Boo" bought the old button factory and made great changes. He now manufactures all parts of the shirt - from raising the cotton to making the packing boxes - in a way that only "Boo" could figure out.

Belle Mayes had taken a course in secretarial work after graduation and now works in the office of JM (which stands for Jimmie Mayton), a concern making racers. One of the regular customers of JM is Roland Maitland who holds the new World's record for speed on the Darvills Race Track owned and operated by James Lee Lewis. James Lee seems to have made a great deal of money with his race track in this speed conscious Dinwiddie County.

When Mrs. J. K. Doyle retired a few years ago, all her students got together and gave her a trip, not to Europe, but to the Pillsbury mills and factories where she compared notes and suggested changes to Betty Crocker. Naturally with a vacancy on the faculty, someone had to fill it. After a lonely life as a home demonstration agent, a confirmed old maid, Linda Meredith, came to fill the opening.

One of the few who has had a normal life is Charlotte Riddle who married a few hours after graduation. She now resides happily with her husband in Petersburg. Speaking of Petersburg, Gene Townsend is now the owner of the only goat ranch in Virginia. His home "Winntown" is famous and open to tourists during the annual Virginia Garden Week.

Suddenly the blare of sirens screams in the White House driveway and I'm sure it must be the Governor of Virginia, His Excellency W. Jordan Currin. As his limousine comes around the south portico, I see that a State trooper with a lot of brass on has just hopped out. It is none other than Douglas King, the chief of police in Virginia.

Just then President Barner tapped me on the shoulder and said, "Jack, since you are the butler, I want you to take the south portico and I'll give Edna, since she is the chief secretary to Mrs. Barner, the north entrance. Oh! Be sure no one gets tipsy, because it would ruin my political career if it got out that I held a rowdy party; but with the crowd that's arriving I'm afraid some may spend the night."
